"GENE" LEIGH ON TRAINING.

"Gene" Leigh, writing from Louisville, where he is training a big stable, under date of January 29, says:

"I enclose you a complete list of the colts and horses I have here at Churchill Downs. There are fifty-eight head of horses, fifteen exercise boys, fifteen grooms, one cook, one assistant cook and one blacksmith in the crew. Frank Kelly and Ben Leigh are the assistant trainers. Kelly has been with me fifteen years and Ben Leigh was raised under him. Kelly is one of the hardest workers in the business. No drone can follow him. While it is no child's play to handle so many horses, we have such perfect discipline that everything works like it was oiled.

"The most successful trainers in England and France train publicly. They often have as many as I in training. Why shouldn't I be able to handle my lot? I predict that in a few years the majority of American horses will be trained in public stables. Why should an owner with from three to eight horses hire a trainer, exercise boys, grooms, jockeys, cooks, etc., when he can lead his horse into my stable with a halter on. Then if he doesn't like the way I handle his horse, he can come to my stable, pay the bill and send his horse to any one he chooses. He then knows exactly what his expenses are and doesn't have to guess. The other way he spends $300 the first month to pay his bills and finds that it takes $500 to settle all expenses. There is no other sensible way to race a small group of horses and you will see that there will be a great many more gentlemen go into racing when they can see just what it will cost them for the pleasure, if it should be a failure. Of course, the trainer must be frank and honest and tell the owner when his horse is ready and advise him to get rid of the bad ones early. There is no money in training bad ones. The harvest is from the winners.

"I think you could make an interesting article out of this subject and do a lot of good for the turf. Why shouldn't Pat Dunne and many others like him open their stables to the public? There is no limit to their ability to handle a greater number of horses than they do. I have heard many gentlemen that were able to indulge in the ownership of racehorses say they would like to own and race a few good ones if they could get a competent, honest man to train them. Such men cannot afford to go into the details of stable management.

"You will see by the owners in my list that I have another lady client. Mrs. J. B. Ferguson, wife of the starter, has placed two very promising colts in my charge. They are the pick of twenty raised at the Kingston Stud. She shows good judgment at the start because she trains the best. The St. George is a bold, galloping chap and the Prince Royal looks like 'ready money'. There are about 250 horses here now. Superintendent Welden keeps everything in apple pie order. We have missed but three gallops since January 1. There is not a sick horse on the Churchill Downs.

"How is our old Coulter? I think he must be dead or under cover with a bunch of 'good things.' You can see what a bad trainer he was. When he had Redskin he was a 3 to 5 shot and won but few races. Now Redskin wins at intervals and at long prices. Advertise for Coulter."

The stable with which Leigh starts out is one such as no other trainer in the west has ever undertaken to handle. It is made up of fifty-eight horses, of which fifty are two-year-olds. This great string is made up of horses belonging to Mrs. E. O. Pepper, Mrs. J. B. Ferguson, Headley & Norton, Catesby Woodford, H. P.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Mr. W. Kelso, the Sydney trainer who recently returned from England, has been interviewed by a representative of the Sydney Referee: "According to the Orville Lodge trainer, there was no Carbine in England when he was there, and from what he heard nothing of the class of Persimmon or Velasquez. Asked what he thought of such horses as Aurum, Newhaven, Resolute or Amiable as compared with the best English handicap horses, Mr. Kelso was inclined to think they were not outclassed. But he gave the palm to the few top-class horses which perform on the English turf. They were superior to any others in the world. Then, again, the rank and file were not particularly to be feared with a good horse. The weakness of English-bred horses was in their legs and feet. They had good size, plenty of bone, ample quality and style, but doubtful looking legs. American-bred horses that he saw were better in this respect, as were the Australians."

Frank Eckert, the Chicago bookmaker, owns a big ranch at Cloverdale, Cal. About a year ago he purchased 800 acres and recently added 1,500 acres adjoining. It would not be surprising to hear that he will go into breeding of thoroughbred horses on a goodly scale. Mr. Eckert went to Colorado Springs after the racing season ended about November 1, bought a house and remaining there until a few weeks ago, when he went to his Cloverdale ranch. The firm of O'Neill & Eckert, of which Mr. Eckert is a member, cleaned up $210,000 on the season around New York. Joe Ullman had a small interest in the book.

H. D. ("Curley") Brown has been engaged to do the starting at Newport this year. At the close of last season Mr. Brown announced his retirement from the starting business, but he qualified his declaration by saying that he would again take up the old work if the Newport people should so desire. Manager Frank Fowler has asked the ex-starter to again wield the bunting at the Campbell County track, and he has agreed to do so.

John B. Ewing has Top Gallant now out at Williamette farm, but he will be sent early in February to Lexington, where he will make the season of 1899. He will be placed at Fairlawn, Wither's farm, which is just outside the city limits of Lexington. It is understood that his book is almost filled with the best bred mares of the blue grass state.—Nashville American.

Before leaving here W. P. Burch announced that Jockey Frank O'Leary would do the riding for the Hitchcock stable during the coming season. O'Leary was a very capable lad about the metropolitan tracks last season, and has not shown his true form while riding here.—New Orleans Picayune.

In his fast mile and a sixteenth race at Oakland last Saturday Dr. Sheppard ran the last mile from wire to wire in 1:38½, exactly the time of the present mile record held by Libertine.

The many friends of Max Blumenthal will be pained to hear of the serious illness of his wife, who is threatened with pneumonia.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Monk Wayman and Agitator were barred from starting at New Orleans until they learned to behave better at the post. Agitator's lesson must have been hurried.

Favor L., a chestnut filly, 2, by Himyar, out of Favor, covered an eighth in twelve seconds at Lexington. She is in John Clay's string of Hira Villa youngsters.

Clifford's first representative was foaled at Hurricana Stud, Amsterdam, N. Y., recently. It is a fine filly, dam Marguerite, by Frogtown.

At La Belle the first of the get of Halma, a chestnut colt, was foaled January 21, by Mr. Edward Kelly's mare Token, by Sir Modied.

Midian has been barred from starting at Oakland because of his bleeding in his last race.

Fairy Rose has a suckling foal at Palo Alto by St. Carlo. Flirt has also a filly foal by Mariner.

"Kid" Weller's trainer, F. W. Doss, is sick at San Francisco.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

But for the honesty of John Roach, the sixteen year old newsboy on the Alameda broad gauge local train, bookmaker John Coleman's bank roll would have suffered a crimp that would have taken a fair share of his goodly fortune. A leathern sack containing $5,500 in gold coin and $18,000 in certified checks, the working capital of Coleman, was accidentally left on a car seat in the race track special train and was found by newsboy Roach. He opened the pouch and his eyes were fairly dazzled by the heap of glittering gold that looked like a king's ransom.

The boy is made of sterling stuff and his honesty came squarely out. He took the sack to Conductor Fred Graves, who took charge of it. Coleman had discovered his loss and wired to the pier. Conductor Graves was sent back with the precious sack and the honest little fellow who found it accompanied him. Coleman was glad to see the newsboy and overjoyed at the return of the bank roll. He ran his fingers through the mass of shining double eagles and pulled out five of them, which he handed to the boy.

John Roach lives at 1112 Eleventh avenue, Oakland, and is a bright, business-like little man. He is a hustler and at the same time has serious aims for a lad of his age and advantages. Some day he intends to have a sackful of gold for his own. "But I shan't steal it," he said yesterday, in speaking of his find. "They looked so pretty, and its jolly to have so much money," he continued; "but it belonged to some one else, and of course, I had no right to it."

Hugh Jones, the cashier for Coleman, left the sack with George Suydam, who in turn left it with Ed Irwin, the ticket writer. He told Irwin to sit on the sack, but neglected to tell him what it contained. Consequently, when the train reached the track Irwin did not give the sack a thought, but jumped up and hurried out of the train. Suydam had been detained in another car, and thinking that Irwin would bring the sack along he did not worry.

In speaking of his loss of an hour Coleman said: "It was a million to one shot the roll was gone for good, I thought, when I heard the news. To say that I was lucky to get it back does not express it. The 'kid' that found the money was rewarded to the extent of $100. He is an honest young fellow and deserves success."—San Francisco Examiner.

W. F. Schulte has the following two-year-olds for the campaign of 1899:

Telke, b. c. by Argyle—Miss Ali.
Verdenst, b. c. by Azra—Peradventure.
Zangwill, ch. c. by Azra—Fanny Willoughby.
Skoot, br. c. by Azra—Queen Lute.
Pferd, b. g. by Azra—Queenlike.
Little Rube, b. c. by King Lee—Little Madam Sprung, b. c. by King Lee—Boundaway.
Lee King, b. c. by King Lee—Kalavala.
Florabird, b. c. by Florist—Canary.
Klar, b. f. by King Lee—Ouse Bright.
Schon, b. f. by King Lee—Algerina.
Erythum, b. f. by King Lee—Error.
Mude, b. g. by Argyle—Petulance.
Maydine, br. f. by King Lee—Peri.
Zangwill and Verdenst are probably the best looking of the bunch, and in their gallops have shown a nice way of going.

Mr. Thomas W. Moore will train and race the following horses this year:

Capsicum, b. c. 3, by Himyar—Altivola.
Harry's Last, ch. c. 2, by Harry O'Fallon—Marchma.
Bay colt, 2, by Daniel—Germaine.
Chestnut filly, 2, by Daniel—Antelope.
